

The MEDFRIEND program will organize at the fifth international conference on water resources and sustainable development a Side Event on the assessment of the impact of global changes on hydrological regimes and water resources in the Mediterranean basin.